I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates your deem problematical.

1. Fall sections of 226 and 227

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses (eg: 70% of students will earn a C or higher in Basketmaking 101, or, passing rate in Underwater 202 will improve by 15%.

1. 60% of students will earn a C or better in Fall sections of 226 and 227

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. Although a sophomore level course, incoming freshmen in the pre-nursing program must take these courses so review sessions, students tutors and i-pad study programs have been set in place for the upcoming year to increase student success.

GNED 107	198	172	5	7	10	4	92.9%	93.4%

The downward trend in enrollment in ENGL 099 seems to have stabilized, at least for this academic year. However, because of initiatives at the high school level that seem to better prepare students for college-level writing, we expect a downward trend to continue in the future, and it may eventually impact staffing for Bridge English.

I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates you deem problematical.

1. ECEC 204 Macroeconomics (73% of students earned a C or higher)
2. ECEC 205 Statistics for Managers (72% of students earned a C or higher)

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses (eg: 70% of students will earn a C or higher in Basketmaking 101, or, passing rate in Underwater 202 will improve by 15%.)

1. 80% of students will earn a C or higher in ECEC 204
2. 80% of students will earn a C or higher in ECEC 204

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. ECEC 204 - Student and Faculty Survey data and comments along with detailed student and faculty input are being utilized to identify the root problem areas associated with this course. After the identification of root problem areas is complete, the appropriate faculty member with subject matter expertise and experience teaching this course will work with Pearson to modify this course.

1. Students will be made fully aware of course expectations during the first week of class. This will include a clear syllabus that outlines expectations and assignment dates. Any changes to the syllabus will be communicated both in class (or BB if it is an online class as well as via email.

2. Instructors will be available during office hours to discuss problems and/or issues regarding the class with students.

3. Students will be made aware of CSU resources (i.e., Writing Center) for assistance with course assignments.

I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates you deem problematical.

1. Comm 401 Advanced Public Relations reveals grades below a high level course for communication majors.
2. The Introduction to Journalism also reveals a slight need for improvement.
3. In preparation for graduation, internships must be instituted. Participation is growing but still lacking in relation to the number of communication majors. Closer cooperation with the Career Center is necessary. Internships are most beneficial as resume building during students' academic careers.
4. Grades of D or F in Comm 110 Public Speaking are unacceptable.

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses (e.g.: 70% of students will earn a C or higher in Basketmaking 101, or, passing rate in Underwater 202 will improve by 15%).

1. Comm 401 Advanced Public Relations may be a problem because of poor writing and research skills. Students in this course must go to the writing center for proofreading, rewriting, and tutorials in weak grammatical areas.
2. Perhaps a one (1) credit course could be developed for media writing to review grammatical study. It is essential that communication majors master grammar and writing. This course would benefit all communication writing needs for journalism and media writing. Communication faculty will discuss and confirm the need and process paperwork for the Curriculum Committee.
3. Research skills are lacking. Tutorials with reference librarians as part of the course must be implemented.
4. In preparation for the importance of internships and writing, communication students must enroll in the Career Center's resume, cover letter, and interview class. Students receive (1) one credit toward their graduation and an A in the course is counted in students' GPA. Communication faculty will prepare necessary documents for the Curriculum Committee.
5. Faculty will identify Comm 110 Public Speaking students who are not mastering writing and speaking. Private meetings should determine problem areas requiring writing center assistance and more individual practice.

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. All communication courses requiring major writing:
 - a. Utilize SOS to Student Success Center as soon as students are late for an assignment.
 - b. Set up individual office meetings for students showing poor attendance, poor scores, and/or poor performance outcomes.
 - c. Have students go to the Writing Center for free tutoring.
 - d. Notify all full and adjunct faculty to identify such students and monitor each one with the above techniques.
 - e. Meet with full and adjunct faculty to identify and review plans for helping students before they FA, withdraw, or fall short of excellent writing skills.
2. COMM 399:
 - a. Identify students who are academically prepared to enroll in the course.
 - b. Notify all adjuncts to promote the course.
 - c. Provide a flyer of course benefits.
 - d. Renew producing formal internship panels of past students who can provide information and testimonies of course benefits.
 - e. Add an internship for communication majors with a GPA of 2.75 and require students with a GPA of 2.0 to complete an internship with The Career Center's APPLE program.

3. Writing Center:

- a. When Comm faculty recommend students to the writing center, they bring a recommendation form to the writing center that the Comm faculty will develop to be signed by the tutor and returned to the professor.

I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates you deem problematical.

At present, there are no courses in the graphic design program with unacceptable completion or success rates. We've experienced some minor retention issues over the years, largely due to HR matters. But at present, the program is still small enough that we can usually stay on top of flailing students and bring them up before serious problems arise.

II: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. Attendance is the most crucial part for doing well within the graphic design program. As most course content is project based, there is direct correlation between poor project quality or incomplete projects and attendance rates. Student's who show up reliably are usually able to get into the "B" range at a min.

1. CHST 131 (Elementary Koine Greek I, Fall 2013)
2. CHST 323 (Philosophy of Religion, Spring 2014)

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses (

1. CHST 131, 80% of students will earn C or higher
2. CHST 323, 70% of students will earn C or higher

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. CHST 131, more frequent vocabulary and grammar quizzes
2. CHST 323, use of "Reading Response Assignments" (specific questions related to an assigned reading that guides students in their reading)

I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates you deem problematical.

1. There are no courses in the EDUC prefix which we deem as problematic

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses (eg: 70% of students will earn a C or higher in Basketmaking 101, or, passing rate in Underwater 202 will improve by 15%.)

1. NA

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. One concern is [removing the clinical practice courses] the number of As given as overall % of enrollment
2. The overall grade distribution needs to be reviewed/assessed/evaluated

I: IDENTIFY PRIORITY COURSES: Please list below 1-3 courses (not sections) with completion/success rates you deem problematical.

Perhaps the rigor of courses across Theatre could be increased. There are no problematic courses, in terms of completion.

II: BENCHMARKS FOR SUCCESS: Indicate 2-3 benchmarks for success in these problem courses

All Theatre emphasis students in COMM 311 should complete the course with a B or higher.

III: PROGRESS AND PROCESS: Indicate plans for helping students meet benchmarks.

1. Intentional contact with students with particular regard to their academic (not just 'performance') success.
2. Meet 2X per semester with all theatre majors to ensure their success rates and identify problems.
